Red Cross Is Enthused Over Roll Call Task

Feel Public Will Respond Graciously Because Of Past Accomplishments

VARIED ACTIVITY BEING STRESSED

More than 200 representatives of Red Cross chapters in the western section of Pennsylvania gathered over the prospects of the coming Roll Call, which will be conducted from November 11 to November 26, when national Red Cross representatives reviewed the splendid record of the Red Cross in this country last year, at the regional conference held at The Castleton Tuesday.

Transformed from a war time organization to relieve suffering, the Red Cross has turned to an organization which is attempting to relieve suffering caused by accident.

Rockefeller Prepares To Start South

(International News Service)

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 7.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., completed plans today to leave tomorrow for his winter home at Ormand Beach, Fla. His private car will be attached to one of the fastest express trains.

A staff of servants that preceded him has his southern estate in readiness, it was said here.

Rockefeller was reported in excellent health, despite his advanced years, and looking forward to the trip.

LEAKING GAS IS CAUSE OF ALARM

Firemen were called to the apartment building at 302 East Long Avenue at 10:40 this morning by an alarm from Box 83 where they found the building from a stove which was being connected in the apartment of Charles Hasson. Residents were afraid the gas might explode. There was no damage.

Allege President's Son Linked In Deal To Sell Airplanes To Russia

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The White House was silent today on the revelations of the Nye senate subcommittee linking Elliott Roosevelt, a son of the president, and Anthony R. Europe Scans Horizon For Lone Atlantic Flier

THE BELLANCA MONOPLANE AND KURT BJORKVALL.

London, Oct. 7.—Europe's outposts scanned the horizon today for the first glimpse of Kurt Bjorkvall's Bellanca monoplane as ships at sea reported no sightings of the silent Swede, a full day out on his New York-to-Stockholm solo hop.

Air ministry and admiralty officials expressed no anxiety over the flier, however, pointing out he was not due over Ireland until later this morning.

He hoped to make Stockholm, by way of Germany, by 7:30 o'clock. Stockholm time, this evening (5:36 P. M. E. S. T.) 34 hours after taking off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 7.—The plane of Kurt Bjorkvall, Swedish aviator who is attempting a non stop flight from New York to Stockholm, was reported seen off Newfoundland, heading east at 7:55 last night.

Bjorkvall hopped off from New York yesterday morning.

Despite a terrific rebel artillery bombardment and repeated infantry attacks, the insurgents have not yet succeeded taking Navalperal, the announcement said, and Loyalist forces have recaptured Sigüenza.

BRITAIN ASKS AGREEMENT

Would Renew Part Of Treaty

Fear Japan Plans To Fortify Every Pacific Island Possession

BRITAIN HOPES TO AVERT SUCH MOVE

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Japan will fortify every Pacific island she possesses unless held back by a binding agreement. Great Britain has proposed renewal of Section 19 of the London naval treaty, it was learned today.

Britain proposes that this section, which deals with fortifications, be modified to cover the subject of aerial bases.

The suggestion has been put forward to the United States and Japanese governments through the British ambassadors in Washington and Tokyo and is now the subject of diplomatic conversations.

Lessen Suspicion
Great Britain takes the position that while naval and aeronautical developments since 1922 may call for some modification of Article 19, any such move must incorporate a naval and aerial base agreement between Britain, the United States and Japan.

Such a pact, Britain holds, would lessen international suspicion and possibly decrease useless competitive naval expenditures.

The present agreement covering non-fortification of Pacific island possessions expires at end of this year.

There have been frequent charges before the league of nations and elsewhere that Japan has fortified the Caroline and Marshall Islands and other Pacific possessions held by her under mandate.

The diplomatic conversations now in progress are aimed at obtaining an unequivocal statement of Japan's future intentions in this regard.

RED CROSS IS ENTHUSED OVER ROLL CALL TASK

and disaster, and at the same time instruct the public in accident prevention, life saving and home hygiene which in time "will save many lives. Vice Chairman James L. Fieser, who is in charge of domestic operations, told the group which attended the luncheon at The Castle in the afternoon.

Is People's Organization

He said that the American Red Cross was "supported by the people, dedicated to the people and worked by the people." For the amount of work which is accomplished by the organization, its national staff is puny, 750 persons being on its payroll in the capacity of executive directors, doctors, nurses, field representatives, and its clerical staff. It would be helpless to accomplish the great good it does if it were not for the tremendous army of volunteer workers, such as were represented at the regional conference, and the many others back home.

He pointed out that the prevention of accidents and disease was the major effort of the organization besides the relief offered in time of disaster, when its trained personnel rushes to the scene of such an event, and with startling swiftness organizes the work of helping the stricken, and as quickly vanishes from the scene when its task has been accomplished.

It is truly a people's organization, he pointed out, and its growth during the past few years has emphasized that fact.

Billy Allison, representing the Clarion county chapter, gave a splendid report of the Junior Red Cross convention at Chicago, which he attended during the summer.

See Disaster Film

At the conclusion of the afternoon meeting a short motion picture film, "The American Red Cross to the Rescue," was shown. It depicted the work done during a disaster, and showed actual scenes taken during the great flood which swept the eastern section of the country last spring.

Most of the film showed the rescue work done in Pennsylvania. Boats were shown being rushed from coast guard stations to the stricken area, and put into service in the space of a few hours, and actual thrilling rescues were seen.

Attorney Joseph R. McFate, who will be the Roll Call chairman for the Lawrence county chapter this fall, was introduced at the luncheon and presided as toastmaster in the absence of Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, who was prevented from attending because of illness. Rev. Father Joseph A. Doerr gave the invocation.

The Franklin chapter of Venango county was awarded the banner for the largest chapter representation, having 14 present.

convention next week. Many are donating cars for transporting the delegates from the Cathedral to their convention homes after the evening sessions close. That's a fine gesture, too.

It seems to Pa. Newc that parking in downtown alleys has increased within recent weeks. Short stops are excusable, but when someone parks a car for any length of time the traffic movement certainly becomes jammed.

Quick thinking and good brakes saved a little colored student of North Street school injury and possible death today at noon. The youngster darted out from a group of fellow students and ran across Mill street just as a car was coming around the corner of North. The driver, a young lady, slammed on her brakes instantly and stopped just as the youngster ran into the front of the car. Nobody was injured but the youngster's Guardian Angel probably suffered a skipped heart-beat or two.

SCULLY ASSUMES POST RESIGNED BY W. N. MCNAIR

Scully is mayor or acting mayor and whether an election by city council within 20 days is required under the city charter.

Scully, the man who managed McNair's election campaign in 1933 and who was groomed by the Democrats to be his successor when they attempted to rip McNair out of office through the legislature, indicated that he and the Democratic majority in council will co-operate fully.

Kirk Is Renamed

Meanwhile, Scully's reappointment of James P. Kirk as city treasurer, restored municipal financial affairs to an even keel. It was McNair's dismissal of Kirk and council's refusal to appoint his new choice that resulted in his resignation.

Democratic leaders discounted reports that should the choice of a mayor be thrown into council a split in the Democratic organization might occur. Party leaders expressed belief the Democratic majority will be able to work in harmony.

Up to the last minute, the Democrats found it hard to realize that McNair, the man they elected in 1933 and who later turned against them, was at last out of office. Only after council had accepted the mayor's resignation did they believe it. Most had expected McNair to appear at the last moment and pull a card out of his sleeve to confound his critics as he had done so many times before. Every councilman present voted for the resignation.

"I'm out because the Democratic council forced me out," the mayor said. "You don't know what I'm avoiding by getting out."

The mayor refused to elaborate on the latter score.

Scully said he will immediately seek an opinion from the city solicitor on whether or not an election of mayor in city council is necessary or whether he can assume office pending the next municipal election under the terms of the city charter.

First to feel the axe was City Solicitor Gregory Zatkovich. McNair's newest appointee. He was fired today by the new mayor after he refused to quit. Scully said:

"I had to fire him...for the good of the service."

Scully announced Zatkovich's successor will be Thomas M. Benner who was fired from an assistant city solicitorship by McNair last year.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 22c.

Deaths of the Day

William A. Love.

Infirmitates due to his advanced years brought a peaceful death today at 9:45 a. m. to William Armstrong Love, 86, in the home of his son James K. Love, of 320 East Lincoln avenue.

Mr. Love was born in Mercer county, April 26, 1850 and had been a resident of New Castle practically all his life. He was the son of Hugh Love and Jane Stewart Love. He was the last member of a family consisting of Alexander Stewart Love, Jesse Bailey Love, Benjamin Milton Love, Sarah M. Love and Hugh Abin Love.

He was married on October 29, 1878 to Mary O. Kerr who preceded him in death on February 12, 1912. Surviving him are three sons, James K. Love, and Joseph W. Love of New Castle, and George R. Love of South Bend, Ind., and a daughter Mrs. R. W. E. Bell of New Castle. Also surviving him are six grand children and two great grand children.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, October 9 at 2:30 p. m. from the home of James K. Love of 320 East Lincoln avenue. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Thomas E. Porter.

Thomas E. Porter, aged 74 years, died at his home, 1010 Winslow avenue, this morning at 4 o'clock the result of a heart condition, after a long illness.

He was born in Mercer county on March 23, 1862, son of Alexander and Nancy Montgomery Porter. He lived in New Castle for the past 40 years and was formerly employed by the Prudential Insurance Company. He was a member of the Second United Presbyterian church.

Surviving are his wife, Martha, and one daughter, Mrs. Nellie Chase, of Ashtabula, O.

The body has been removed to the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where funeral services will be conducted by Dr. C. K. McGeorge of the Second U. P. church, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Graceland cemetery.

Thursday night from 7 to 9 o'clock the family will be at the mortuary when friends call.

Bessie Coyne Funeral

Funeral services for the late Bessie Wallace Coyne, wife of Jerry J. Coyne, were conducted from the late residence, West Washington street extension, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. S. E. Irvine, D. D., pastor of the First U. P. church, of which she was a member, presided at the service.

The singing of "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "In the Garden" by Leroy Todd and David Duncan added beauty to the service. Pallbearers for the service were: Edward Coyne, Jerry Coyne, Jr., N. S. Hanna, Tully J. Calazza, John McNicholas and John Bartley. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Hanna Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Hanna of East Washington street were conducted at the Kelley funeral home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. S. E. Irvine, D. D., pastor of the First U. P. church, officiated.

The pallbearers were Thomas Hartman, Fred Emery, Hugh Jamison, David Nesbit, Edwin McBride and Harry McBride. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

A. C. Phillips Funeral

Funeral services for Alfred C. Phillips, of North Jefferson street, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Ritchie funeral home and at 2:30 o'clock in the Wesleyan Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. J. L. Landrey in charge.

Mrs. Lena Kirkwood and Miss Dorothy West, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Leyshon at the piano, sang, "When The Roll is Called Up Yonder," "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow," and "No Disappointments in Heaven."

Pallbearers were Thomas Black, Louis Brady, Harry Cross, Carl Phillips, Dean Peet and Benjamin Taylor. Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

try every person "who in any one of a thousand different ways display opposition to the government."

With the Madrid offensive on, another battle paralleling in ferocity and desperation those at Irún and Toledo, was under way at Oviedo.

Slashing away government resistance on the way, according to foreign reports, a motor truck column of rebels arrived on the outskirts of the northern city just as Asturian Loyalists, after two appalling bombardments, won a foothold in Oviedo.

Asturians Make Progress

Madrid reports said the Asturians captured the Oviedo railroad station, but the rebels said the besieged garrison made a successful sortie and drove back the Loyalists.

Scenes in Oviedo are horrible in their gruesomeness, Loyalists said, with typhus raging in the city, beleaguered for more than two months, and the streets heaped with rotting corpses.

Another column of Gen. Emilio Mola, which has been slowly fighting towards Bilbao from San Sebastian for nearly two weeks, is nearing Elbar. Anarchists within the town are reported fighting among themselves, and Elbar's fall to the rebels is expected hourly.

Madrid reported the capture of the airport at Huesca, on the Catalonian front, after a short fight.

On that sector a fight to the death was proclaimed by Luis Companys, president of the Catalonian parliament. In a speech at Barcelona commemorating the Catalonian revolution of 1934, he said:

"We are fighting not only Fascism, but military bureaucracy. They shall not pass! We'll conquer or die."

Northwest of Madrid, where the southern arm of Gen. Mola's forces is struggling through the defiles of the Sierra Guadarrama, rebel attacks on Navalperal were repulsed, according to announcements here.

The government has appropriated 5,000,000 pesetas to help strengthen Madrid's fortifications.

Burgos, Spain, Oct. 7.—General Francisco Franco today announced plans for a new offensive against Madrid from Toledo and Guadarrama over the week-end.

Rabat, Morocco, Oct. 7.—The Spanish government today ordered evacuation of shipping from all Mediterranean ports in view of possible bombardment by insurgent air and naval forces, according to a radio message intercepted here today.

ALLEGED PRESIDENT'S SON IS LINKED IN RUSSIAN PLANE DEAL

the alleged agreement was made at the time American manufacturers held high hopes for a rally in Russian trade following President Roosevelt's diplomatic recognition of the Soviets.

Fokker's deposition stated that Elliott Roosevelt and his business associate, Mr. Stratton, represented to him that Roosevelt had "enough influence with the Import and Export bank and the Russian purchasing commission, then in the country, to swing the deal at that excessive price."

"Son of American President." His statement also brought out a plan to have young Roosevelt make a tour of Europe to try to sell airplanes to the various governments.

Fokker testified that he banked on the "willingness of high foreign officials to receive Roosevelt as the son of the American president."

Roosevelt did not make the trip

I WON'T GO ASHORE TOMORROW; ONE DAY OF EVERY MONTH IS SIMPLY OUT OF MY LIFE.

I'M GLAD YOU SAID SOMETHING IN TIME; COME RIGHT DOWN TO MY STATE ROOM NOW.

HOW DO YOU FEEL MONEY? ANY PAIN?

HOW CAN I THANK YOU? I HAVE NOT FELT A PARTICLE OF PAIN. I'M NOT EVEN TIRED!

AND THAT NIGHT THE MOON MEANT ROMANCE AND REVEALRY INSTEAD OF THE OLD SUFFERING. ONE MORE WOMAN WHO KNOWS THAT MIDOL TAKES CARE OF THAT KIND OF PAIN.

EVERY month sees more women accepting the peace and comfort of Midol! It's old-fashioned to suffer periodic pain, because there is now a reliable remedy for such suffering.

JUNIOR CIRCLE PLANS MRS. PHILLIPS' VISIT

Highland U. P. church has been selected as the place for the evening address to be given by Mrs. John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh, state federation president, on Thursday, October 22.

Mrs. Phillips is coming here under the auspices of the Junior club groups of the county and at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Junior Reading circle, in the home of the Misses Helen and Edna Mae Shaffer on Court street, plans were discussed by the girls for their part in the evening's occasion.

Miss Elizabeth Dietterle, the president presided, and roll call was answered by relating interesting experiences of the summer.

Mrs. Carrie Jeffery Roberts was the guest speaker, giving a most interesting talk on the highlights of trips to Europe, which she has enjoyed many times.

Besides being instructive, the talk was delightfully informal and enjoyable, it always being a treat to hear Mrs. Roberts.

At the close of the program, tasty refreshments were served with appointments in orange and black, suggestive of Halloween. The next meeting was announced for November 3, with the Misses Jane and Anna Mae Lloyd, hostesses.

Board Meeting

This evening at 8:15 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Maurice Slaven, South Mercer street, members of the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood board of directors will meet.

CABINET MEETING FOLLOWS DINNER

Members of Epworth League Cabinet, of the First M. E. church held their regular October meeting in the home of Miss Elizabeth Slaver, Moody avenue, following the penny supper which was held in the church, Tuesday evening.

Under the leadership of the president, Jack Louer, a short business session was conducted, at which time plans were made to hold a Halloween party on Monday evening, October 26, at the Deaconess Home on Phillips street. Miss Elizabeth Slaver is general chairman for this occasion and she will appoint her committee later.

One special guest, Miss Ida Schenkel, superintendent of the Deaconess Home, enjoyed the activities of the club.

At a set time delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, efficiently aided by Miss Fern Cloak.

JEWISH RELIEF SOCIETY MEETS

The attractively arranged Cosmo club, North Mercer street, was the scene of the first meeting of the year for members of the Jewish Relief society Monday evening.

During the course of the event, a number of new members were initiated into the organization. President Mrs. J. Leiby presided. Hostesses were Mrs. L. Cohen, Mrs. S. Levine, Mrs. L. Zieve, Mrs. E. Masters, Mrs. H. Abkowitz and Mrs. Jack Leiby. The affair proved delightful.

GALBRAITH-HENNON HOMESTEAD WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Hennon have taken up their residence at 1239 East Washington street, having returned to this city Monday, after their marriage on Saturday, October 3.

The ceremony was performed at high noon in Homestead, Pa., by the Rev. J. H. Douds, pastor of the First U. P. church, who is a friend of the groom. The bride is the former Mariellen Galbraith of Philadelphia, daughter of the late Mrs. Alice Galbraith Wilkerson, who frequently visited in New Castle.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Weller of Glenmore boulevard, cousins of the bride, and little Alice Hennon. The bride wore a royal blue crystal velvet gown, fashioned in daytime mode, with a jacket. Her hat was blue velvet and accessories were white, with sweet-heart roses in a shoulderette, completing the ensemble.

Mrs. Weller was attired in an all brown velvet costume with brown accessories, and her flowers were yellow roses. Little Alice wore a winsome frock of white tulle, and her flowers were tiny rosebuds.

A wedding dinner was served the bridal party in the Fort Pitt hotel afterwards.

Mr. Hennon conducts a hardware business on East Washington street and is one of New Castle's popular business men.

WILSON-BARTLEY MARRIAGE NEWS

On Sunday afternoon, September 27, at 2:30 o'clock, in the parish hall of St. Mary's church, the Rev. Fr. Leo Watterson united in holy matrimony Miss Estella Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Amy Wilson of 931 East Washington street, and John Bartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bartley of 832 Butler avenue.

The bride was attired in sapphire blue velvet with gold accessories, and carried yellow tea rose buds. Mrs. Myron Shaughnessy of Pittsburgh, as matron of honor, wore a beautiful maroon velvet gown and carried pink rose buds. Myron Shaughnessy of Pittsburgh served as best man.

Following the ring ceremony the newlyweds were served in the bride's home. Dispensing with a honeymoon for the present, Mr. and Mrs. Bartley are at home to their friends at 931 East Washington street.

Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Clause of 1509 Huron avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Antoinette, to Delio Bonci, son of Mrs. Lena Minotti, Beaver avenue, Ellwood City. The date of the wedding has not been disclosed.

MRS. H. T. DOUGHERTY HONORED AT PARTY

On Monday evening, Mrs. F. D. Perrine of East Moody avenue, entertained the girls of the Sixth floor of the Lawrence Savings & Trust building, honoring Mrs. Hugh T. Dougherty, nee Marie Fulkerson, a bride of recent date.

Bingo and bridge were the diversions of the evening, and later a delicious lunch was served in the dining room, where yellow color scheme was carried out. In serving lunch the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. M. B. Francis.

A lovely gift was presented Mrs. Dougherty by the friends present, to be used in her new home.

RYBKA-CWYNAR WEDDING EVENT

Miss Anastasia Rybka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew Rybka of Miller street, and John Cwynar, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cwynar of High street, were united in marriage Saturday morning, at the St. Philip and James church.

The vows were exchanged at 9 o'clock with Rev. V. V. Stanciewski officiating with the single ring service.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attractive in an eggshell flowered satin gown, train, and finished with a Queen Anne collar. She wore a veil of tulle edged in lace, cap shape, caught with a crown of tiny seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of lilies with streamers of ribbons knotted with tulle-lilies.

Miss Elizabeth Rybka, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a pink moire, floor length gown. A band of pink rosettes was worn on the side of the head. Her arm bouquet was pink roses and baby's breath. Bridesmaids were, Violet Melcer, Jane Klamut, Stella Dudek and Helen Kamzelski, appearing in blue moire. Floor length gowns made identical to the maid's of honor with a band of blue rosettes on the side of their coiffure. Their arm bouquets were tulle roses.

Casimer Cwynar served his brother as best man and those ushering included, Stanley Cwynar, Bill Boczar, Walter Boczar, Mike Brys and Bronco Teles. Little Raymond Melcer, cousin of the bride served as ring-bearer and little Patricia Boczar, niece of the groom was the flower girl.

Appropriate wedding music was provided before the ceremony with Miss Marie Dutkiewicz presiding at the organ.

An informal reception was held for 150 guests, many of whom were from Detroit, Pittsburgh and Ambridge. A large wedding cake graced the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Cwynar departed for a short wedding trip to Detroit and other points of interest and upon their return will reside with the bride's parents.

PENNY SUPPER HELD BY EPWORTH LEAGUE

Tuesday evening a most successful penny supper was conducted by members of Epworth League of the First M. E. church. Fifty persons gathered in the dining room of the church at 6:30 and were served a delicious dinner.

Following the dinner, those present joined in singing songs and were led by toastmaster, DeLace Cole, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary Long, Daniel Carroll, physical instructor at George Washington Junior high school, took charge of the program at this point, and several very interesting games were played.

The success of the affair was due to Misses Elizabeth Slaver, Harriet Phipps, Peg Stoll, Evelyn McIver and Charlotte Melver.

Next Sunday evening, the League is staging a play called "It's More Blessed To Give Than To Receive." This will be at 6:30 in the church and the public has been invited to view the play.

PRI-DO NURSES MEET THURSDAY

MRS. STREET SPEAKS AT A. B. D. MEETING

Mrs. Albert B. Street was the guest of honor and speaker at the opening meeting of A. B. D. Girls on Tuesday evening in Mrs. J. Norman Martin's home on North Mercer street.

She spoke on the general topic, "From Other Shores", telling of the foreign element in the United States, describing the locations, vocations and characteristics of the different peoples settling here from time to time. As Mrs. Street is a most interesting speaker, her talk was keenly enjoyed.

At the business session with President Mrs. Clair W. Chain presiding, activities for the winter's work were up for discussion. A sum of money was voted for a gift in memory of the late Mrs. Ada Barker Donnan, the founder of the organization, which will be placed in newly decorated parlors of the First Presbyterian church. A committee to select the remembrance is composed of three charter members of A. B. D., Miss Eleanor Anderson, Mrs. Anna Wagner and Mrs. John A. Edgar.

Mrs. Frank B. Offutt was welcomed as a new member last night, and the girls were also pleased to have back with them, Mrs. William J. Cochran (Hester Bryson), who has been living in Florida, at Hollyhill, the past two years.

Lovely refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Maud, Mrs. J. Myron Rice, Mrs. Paul S. Fischer, MacNab and Mrs. Paul S. Fischer. The date of the next meeting will be announced, as it is probable that it will be held on another night in November than the regular one.

CHAPTER 105 PLANS OCTOBER CARD PARTY

At the home of Mrs. Eurouth Headland, on Winter avenue, Tuesday evening, New Castle chapter 105 O. E. S., was represented by a committee which planned a card party for Wednesday evening, October 21, at 8 o'clock, in the Cathedral.

The affair will be of a progressive nature, with contract and successive bridge, 500 and bingo in play. Mrs. Headland is general chairman for this new venture on the club calendar, co-operating with Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer, general chairman of the social committee.

Mrs. Headland's committee consists of Mesdames Flora De Vassie, Ada Jackson, Mable Lohrmann, Florence Long, Mary Burard, Helen Wilson, Jennie Harris, Gertrude Pink, Elsie Johnston, Messrs. Henry Jackson and William Lohrmann.

HOSPITAL ALUMNAE MEETS LAST NIGHT

New Castle Hospital Alumnae Association members gathered on the roof garden of the hospital building on Tuesday evening and had an interesting business meeting followed by bingo playing.

Miss Blanche Guinagh, the president, called the meeting to order and business pertaining to the profession of nursing was brought before the body. Miss Grace Ackerman was appointed secretary and treasurer in the absence of Miss Margaret Barley.

Dr. J. R. Palazzo addressed the group on "Surgery and Medicine in Vienna".

On the committee for the social hour were Mrs. Mary Marsic, Esther Reynolds, Leola Cutler, Frances Patton, Angela Barnes and Blanche Guinagh.

The next meeting will be on the first Tuesday of November.

LADIES OF G. A. R. EXPECT VISITOR

Tuesday, October 20, Anna E. Good, Williamsport, department president of the Grand Army Ladies will visit the local group.

Plans for her visit were discussed at the regular session held Tuesday, in Modern Woodman hall. The meeting was an all day affair, with quilting the chief occupation and a nice luncheon at noon.

Next Tuesday, the ladies will have another quilting party at the same place with lunch again in the middle of the day.

Randolph Circle Dinner

Randolph Circle of the King's Daughters had a tureen dinner in the First Methodist Episcopal church dining room at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday, with an attendance of twenty members.

The following new officers took over their duties at the business session which followed: President, Mrs. Ira Campbell; honorary vice president, Miss Mary White; first vice president, Mrs. W. O. Mayberry; second vice president, Mrs. Charles McCallen; recording secretary, Mrs. S. M. Rea; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. C. Black; and treasurer, Mrs. William Steen.

Plans were made for attending the tri-county conference at Franklin on Thursday.

Kelso Reunion

MAKING READY FOR A CHANGE

ONE of the absorbing questions of the political prognosticators at this time is whether or not the people want a change, and whether they will translate their desires along this line into the election in November. Republicans have been quick to hail their big congressional victory in Maine, where they swept the platter clean and made a net gain of two congressmen, as an indication that the people do want a change in the conduct of national affairs. New Dealers naturally deny this and declare that the action of Maine in voting Republican was merely going back to normalcy again. Of course, it is to be admitted that if the country becomes normal the topheavy Democratic congressional majority will disappear because the country is normally Republican.

In any event it is interesting to note that in the primary elections which closed recently eighteen house members were defeated in the party primaries. Of this number, seventeen were Democrats and only one a Republican. Now, as in every primary election, the sitting congressman has a big advantage over his party opponents and this unseating of seventeen Democrats may have more than passing significance. There can be no blinking the fact that when it came to wanting changes, the casualties were seventeen times as heavy among the Democrats.

According to a press agency, which recently analyzed the situation, of the seventeen Democrats defeated for re-nomination, one was from Florida, one from California, one from Iowa, three from Louisiana, two from Ohio, one from Oklahoma, four from Pennsylvania, one from Missouri, one from Texas, one from Alabama and one from Virginia. A glance at this record would seem to indicate that the Democrats in Pennsylvania seem less inclined to endorse the New Deal than those of any other of the states holding primaries.

The only Republicans to meet defeat in the primary, according to the press agency statement, was Verner Main, of Michigan, who was chosen at a special election as an out and out Townsendite, and who failed to be renominated this year.

Another point which is worth noting is that sixteen Democratic congressmen decided it was not worth while running again while only one Republican made the same decision. Counting in the vacancies caused by death, which must naturally be filled by new statesmen, the survey shows there will necessarily be more than 70 house changes next year. The political upset in Maine, however, indicates that there will be many more new faces than this number.

Just what the significance of the primary results may be, remains to be seen. Certainly they are not discouraging to the followers of the G. O. P.

A BASEBALL MUSEUM

With the World Series ended, this should be a good time to concentrate thought upon the proposal of a national baseball museum. The wonderfully fascinating sport that is America's own, originated nearly a hundred years ago at Cooperstown, N. Y., and the first field used is still held sacred, to the honor of the people of Cooperstown. Further, there happens to be a substantial beginning for a rarely interesting collection of objects connected with the game in its early days, including the first ball ever tossed over the plate, a series of clippings and photographs recalling the initial season and similar historic trophies.

Old and young are devoted followers of the game which, despite the popularity of football, horse racing, golf and tennis, has an inside hold upon the affections of every red-blooded citizen. Occasionally it has looked as if baseball were doomed because of transient scandals, but there is so much of genuine merit and popular appeal about the sport that all minor abuses have been quashed and we see today more enthusiastic support for the national pastime than ever before. Baseball deserves the tribute contemplated at Cooperstown.

NOT NOW, BUT LATER

Why should the United States Chamber of Commerce seek the assurance that the federal budget can be balanced in the next fiscal year, asks The New York Sun? Did not its members hear the president, speaking from Forbes Field in Pittsburgh, say that if the national income keeps rising at the present rate the budget can be balanced "within a year or two"? Perhaps some of the business men who make up the membership of the United States Chamber of Commerce would like a little more definite assurance than the phrase "within a year or two." Perhaps some of them remember that the balancing of the federal budget, held so important by the Chicago platform of 1932, has been referred to ever since 1933 in just such glancing expressions, usually in what might be called the indefinite future tense.

Another expression in the Pittsburgh speech must have struck some of the listeners as odd. The same president who vetoed the bill for pre-payment of the adjusted compensation certificates now says that the deficit did not decline "technically" this year because "we paid the bonus this year instead of in 1945." Those who were losing their shirts in the market crash of 1929 used to be consoled by brokers with the thought that the market had been restored to "a strong technical position." The technical rise or fall of a deficit must be of the same order.

HOW QUEER is our world. Fascists, led by Sir Oswald Mosley of the English black-shirts who think they ought to change the British government, learned from a mob that Fascism does not suit England—yet, the black-shirts were driven home.

Next day, which was yesterday, bands of the Fascists invaded the London Jewish quarter, smashing windows. In the first day's rioting between Fascists and the crowd that does not want Fascism, hundreds were hurt.

ENGLAND is becoming modernized. One of her race track gambling-gangsters, murdered "American fashion" in the course of gangster business, was honored with a funeral that would make Chicago or New York stare.

MUSSOLINI does not believe that old "supply and demand" is necessarily omnipotent. While cutting 41 per cent from the value of Italian money, he forbids any increase in prices, any rent increase for two years.

That experiment will be watched with interest. The word "money," most important in the world to many, has less real meaning than any other word in the dictionary, nobody knowing anything about it.

A NEW LAW in Paraguay compels every able-bodied man to work, whether he wants to or not. Here men that want jobs can't get them. There men can get jobs but don't want them.

THE FEET ON THE DESK I SEE BY THE PAPERS that a bright young research fellow is of the opinion that the best thinking is done with the feet on the desk.

You must put them very high, so high that the blood supply to the head is increased, the brain activity is quickened, and the results are marvelous. . . . The news item I read on that matter was accompanied by photographs of a couple of young people with books in their hands and their feet up. At the moment they weren't doing any thinking. Who CAN do any thinking when his picture's being taken?

The idea may be good, but I have my doubts. It might work for you, but it has never worked for me. . . . Perhaps I have the wrong attitude—I mean the wrong mental attitude—but when I put my feet on the desk I'm not thinking. I'm day-dreaming. I'm putting off till later what I should be doing right now. I'm loafing. I'm stalling. I'm praying for a thought instead of digging for it. . . . Only time I ever get any real work done is when I pull the chair squarely in front of the typewriter, get my head down, and start punching the keys. . . . Once I tried putting both feet on the desk, with the typewriter between my legs, but that didn't work very well, either. It looked silly, and both my feet went to sleep.

I'm not so sure about that blood-running-to-the-head business, either. Carry that to its logical conclusion and the best thinking would be done hanging by your heels from a hook in the ceiling. The results should be miraculous, world-shaking, astounding—but I have my doubts.

Snakes hang, by their tails. How much useful thinking do they get? . . . Monkeys swing wildly from the trees. What's the limit of their thinking? . . . Circus acrobats hang by their heels, toes and knees. If they carried their thinking out to the nth power they'd quit the business of doing stunts for people who are afraid they'll fall, and half hope they will. . . . Guess I'd better keep my feet on the ground.

AND THE Mud Puddles

POWER OF SUGGESTIONS Two ladies were married to musicians. The one, a bride of a year, was pushing a baby-carriage in which were three fine babies—triplets, all girls. The other lady had been in the bonds of matrimony a couple of weeks.

"What beautiful children!" exclaimed the newly married one with interest. "They're the proud mother. 'Let me tell you the funniest coincidence. At our wedding supper the boys who played with my husband in the orchestra serenaded him and they played 'Three Little Maids' from 'The Mikado.' Isn't that queer?"

At this the other one turned pale. "Mercy!" she gasped. "At our wedding supper Tom's friends serenaded him also, and they rendered 'The Sextette' from 'Lucia!'"

UNCLE "CHEW" WILSON (2 QUID MAN) AND THE CAMPAIGN CIGAR

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:33; sun rise tomorrow 6:03.

The Statute of Liberty in New York harbor has been there about fifty years. Very few Americans have seen it compared to the population of this country. The foreigners get an eye full of it before they land in New York. It is a wonderful statue and the arms are so big grown people can go up in them on steps.

Trading the farm for a light touring car is another way of leaping from the spider into the conflagration.

TODAY'S STORYETTE A burly man pushed his way to the counter of a postoffice, demanding a stamp. The girl behind the counter was trying to explain something to an old woman.

"I say," he shouted, "I've got to catch a train!" The clerk turned and said quietly: "Did you say you had to catch a train?"

"I did," snapped the man. "Then what you need is a railroad station. This is the postoffice." It's a big job to get some voters coaxed into getting registered and then some more work to get them to vote. Then there is the kind that does everything without being told, but expects some pay for his vote. The pay for votes goes under quite a few different names.

Grocer: "Do you want white or brown eggs?" Bride: "The kind I want are white with a yellow polka dot in the middle."

The fellow who runs the rouge's gallery takes both front and side views and profile so his customers will be sure to be satisfied.

You can recognize the child of an anxious mother. It has a thermometer sticking in its mouth.

Several persons have died from heart attacks this fall either by playing football or watching the game. Getting a heart attack is not the reason we don't attend football games.

After a fellow has been hell-bent about so long, it's impossible for him to straighten up.

The reason some wives can always recognize hubby's footsteps is because he carries his shoes in his hand.

UNCLE ABNER
SAYS:

Some folks live off the land, others off the taxpayer. Some politicians' motto seems to be "Give unto others in hopes they will give unto you."

There are either a lot of people just deliberately lying in the presidential campaign or they do not know what they are talking about. Both are bad things to do.

Many people think they have an appetite for literature, but they find trouble in digesting it.

If the restaurant insists a quartet of oysters is a stew, they might at least teach 'em to sing.

The auto speeder passes everything including an occasional ten days in jail.

A gift shop is where you buy cute little articles that nobody would buy except to give away.

In spite of denials most anything is liable to happen in this country as long as there is so much waste of the taxpayer's money. No one objects to people being taken care of in times of stress, but wasting the money on those who don't need it is bad. When unreliable business methods are adopted in private business it just means busting up and that holds just as good in government affairs.

IN APPRECIATION By Ben Allen Goolash It happened in a little town out west. The folks there were poor, struggling farmers. There was only one grocery; the grocer himself was a generous gentleman.

Several of the farmers got together one evening and after a few words, they left to call upon the grocer. They entered his home and stood with their hats in their hands. They were embarrassed. Neither knew how to begin the conversation. Finally, one of the farmers sputtered:

"We—ah—would like to show our appreciation and—maybe you'll git mad."

Appreciation? Get mad? The grocer asked bewildered.

"Well," the man continued, "we hope you don't git mad because we'd like to give you a present."

"But why?" the grocer asked. "We figured as how you helped the poor with money and groceries that we'd like to give you some land. It's the best spot." The farmer fumbled nervously with his hat.

"But now—" the grocer began. "Well it's a nice spot," the farmer continued. "It's the best spot in the cemetery. We don't have much money but—it's the best spot."

The grocer smiled and then tears filled his eyes in thankfulness.

A great many judges are glad to excuse men from jury duty when they find the men have secured steady jobs after being out of work for some time. That's not a bad idea.

The money a beauty specialist gets for adjusting the debutant's eyebrows is easy picking.

Teacher—Johnnie, this composition on the dog is the same as your brother Jimmie's word for word.

Johnnie—Yes, teacher, it's the same dog, you know.

Broneho Bill—No, he died with his boots on. That's how he come to die.

The common word "mash" is from a beautiful gypsy word "mafada" which means "to charm by the eyes." The good dictionary word "vamp" was at first a slang word being rubbing up of old hats and shoes. Now, from being a cobbler's word it has become a classic, and we talk of revamping the language. A "tinker's dam" has nothing to do with swearing. It is merely the dam or stoppage, made of flour and water, with which the tinker stops the gap he is mending until the tin or the pewter he is melting has cooled.

There is one thing sure in this world and that is there is no general excuse for buying tickets. Everybody has to make his own excuse and none of them are very satisfactory to those who sell them.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES She had called up the Elk's Club to inquire if her husband was there.

Without a moment's delay and without any attempt to make inquiries, the telephone operator replied that he was not.

"But I haven't told you my husband's name," retorted the indignant wife.

"That's all right, Madam," was the reply. "Nobody's husband is ever at this club."

Remote control is a great thing, but Pap says it never works on a boy attending college.

EMERSON'S PHILOSOPHY Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in, forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the yesterday.

These days the only way to hang on to a coin for a pocketpiece is to grab off something of a nature that the merchant will look upon with suspicion.

Oct. 7, 1746—William Billings was born in Boston, two decades before he became America's first popular composer. He introduced the lively and spirited style of devotional music which made him "The Singing Master's Assistant," the most widely circulated collection of songs issued in this country for many years. It was published when he was 32.

Billings is a significant figure in American musical history because the introduction of his airs, which contained many tunes and melodious phrasing in the bass and intermediate parts that were often contrary to conventional harmony, necessitated the cultivation of the art of singing, which was entirely neglected so long as the music sung in congregations was confined to a few slow, simple, old sacred melodies.

Jeff Hargis asks for repetition of a statement he once saw here concerning eels which travel thousands of miles. The European eel breeds only once in its life, and crosses the Atlantic to the West Indies to do it. After the spawning season it dies without returning home. But the small eels, or elvers, cross the ocean by instinct and return to the very waters from which their parents came. There they remain until their time to recross the Atlantic, to spawn and die.

Wonderful? Yes, but their migratory instincts are no more highly developed than those of the birds hatched on the shores of Arctic Circle which are left behind by their parents long before they are grown and able to travel themselves. But they inevitably fly over territory they have never seen, without map or guidance, the habitats of their parents in South America.

Jackson Drew Bitter Tirade.
East Invective in 1828 Campaign.
Victory One For The People.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

ANDREW JACKSON'S campaigns were bitter beyond conception now. The opposition to Thomas Jefferson had been bitter enough 32 years previously, but the opposition to Jackson in 1828 topped that.

New England dressed seeing this mountain warrior-statesman march to power. He represented a "radical" south and west—agricultural interests against the business interests of the east. The word "Jacobin" once more came to eastern lips. "The wild men of the Mississippi" were—psst!—Jacobins! (That was the equivalent of communist of today.)

John Quincy Adams was running for re-election as president. The eastern business interests supported him—and denounced Jackson.

But the politicians knew which way the tide was turning. Even the vice president, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina—that powerful advocate of states' rights—switched his support to General Jackson.

The Adams' national campaign committee struck a nation when it sent out pamphlets attacking the moral character of Jackson's wife, Rachel. As a matter of fact, she was above reproach. Jackson never forgave his political opponents for that. And they paid heavily.

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE Jackson won the 1828 election with plenty of electoral votes to spare. He had 178, Adams 83. Jackson's popular vote totaled 647,276, Adams' 508,064.

Adams had not even gained all the electoral votes of New England.

When Jackson took the oath as president on March 4, 1829, he was the first man who had risen from a poverty-stricken past to the high post. Business shuddered.

Jackson wasted no time in taking charge of the government. He ousted government office holders who had not supported him, filling their places with the "faithful." Then Jackson addressed himself to such pressing problems as the tariff, nullification and the bank.

NULLIFICATION The planting south had wearied of getting rid of a high tariff which was harming foreign trade. South Carolina, therefore, through its legislature tried to nullify the tariff act, so far as that state was concerned. And it warned that South Carolina might secede and take its place as a sovereign, separate power.

Jackson was a man of the common people. He could not arouse much sympathy within himself for the southern planters any more than he could for the eastern industrialists.

This Jackson spoke violently of the "would-be secessionists. He threatened to "hang every leader . . . of that infatuated people, sir, by martial law, irrespective of his name or political or social position."

But Jackson was not violent in state documents. With the aid of Edward Livingston, secretary of state, a very capable man, Jackson issued a proclamation—considered a landmark to this day—speaking the sacredness and perpetuity of the Union.

COMPROMISE The tariff matter finally was compromised, largely through Henry Clay.

The tariff was lowered, gradually over a period of 10 years. Likewise, a bill was passed (to appease the north) providing for the upholding of the Union by armed force, if necessary.

South Carolina was satisfied. But not before John C. Calhoun, in a dramatic break with President Jackson, had resigned as vice president to lead the nullificationists on the floor of congress.

The real issue, however, was not met then. Would it have been better to have met it then, in 1832-1833 than in the late fifties and the strife of the early sixties?

THE BANK We shall reserve for our next column President Jackson's successful defiance of the U. S. supreme court and the destruction of the second United States bank.

Jackson based his election campaign for a second term on that issue—and won.

CAMPAIGN WISE MEN

It is strange about my grocer! I was sure he knew his tea. And his sugar and his onions but I never dreamed that he was a scientist and scholar, stocked with all the lore of man. And could settle every problem till this campaign time began; But today while buying apples I was backed against the wall. Where I had to stand and listen—and I found he knows it all.

I had always thought my barber had an ordinary mind.

One for shaving and for clipping hair most perfectly designed. But I find him so much wiser now the campaign booms along.

For he took an hour this morning just to tell me what is wrong. He has very fixed opinions on all matters grave and small. Elder statesmen should consult him, for I'll swear he knows it all.

I have six or seven relations who are little known to fame. But each one could run the nation if the call to do so came.

Now the campaign fires are raging and at times they visit me. I am forced to sit and listen meekly, yes, and patiently.

While they tell with calm assurance why great statesmen rise and fall. And there's nothing I can answer—since they seem to know it all.

AROUND CITY HALL

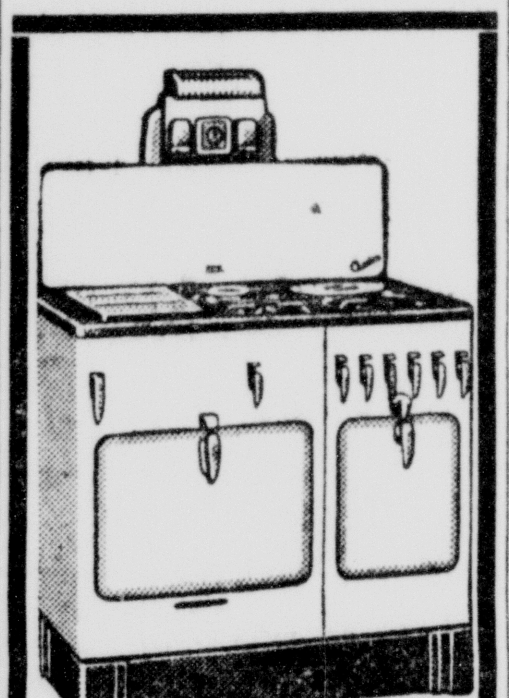

Following receipt of a "sob" letter from a 14 year old daughter of a woman who left her home town in company of a man other than her husband, Mayor Charles E. McGrath started the wheels of the law here turning last several days ago and as a result the family is reunited. Within two hours after the pitifully worded letter had been received the man and woman were in custody. The mayor offered the woman the alternative of punishment or returning to her home town and family. She chose the latter—the result of the daughter's letter.

Council convened yesterday as a board of revision to hear complaints of triennial assessments made in the Fifth Ward. However, there were not many. Finance Director Fink, who is in direct charge of the assessors, remarking: "It is evident the Fifth warders are satisfied with the assessments."

As soon as signs can be erected the new regulations concerning no parking rules in certain streets will be enforced, according to Mayor Chas. E. McGrath. Many changes have been made here recently in the hope of expediting traffic.

Archbishop Is To Be Guest Speaker At Oriental Dinner

Distinguished Churchman Will Be In New Castle This Coming Week End

The Most Reverend Archbishop Anthony Bashire, of New York and North America, will visit New Castle on Saturday of this week to attend the Fourth Annual Oriental Dinner and Entertainment at the Cathedral given by St. Elias Syrian Orthodox church.

He is expected to arrive early Saturday and preparations are being made for his reception. In the evening, at the Cathedral dinner, he will give a speech both in English and Arabic.

This distinguished visitor was here a year ago but this will be first visit since he was ordained archbishop. At that time he was a special representative of the Church of Antioch to the American Episcopal church, appointed by the Patriarch. In that capacity he did a great amount of traveling and made addresses before the largest churches and social centers in America, and attended all general conventions of the Episcopal church. When the late Archbishop Abou Assley died, Mr. Bashire was appointed Patriarch Vicar, provisional head of the Syrian Orthodox church in America.

He is very well known and has a national and international reputation as a scholar, an author, translator and church administrator. He speaks several languages; for more than six years he edited and published a monthly magazine printed in Arabic entitled Al Khalidat or "The Immortal." He translated into the English language the books of the famous poet and philosopher of the Near East, Gibran Khalil Gibran, at the request of Gibran. On Sunday the archbishop will officiate at a Holy Mass in St. Elias Orthodox church on East Reynolds street.

race would still be far back of the Dark Ages.

One of the greatest Greeks said truly that bodily slavery was necessary, because it gave leisure to a few, leisure made thought possible, and thought created progress.

If all men had worked hard by compulsion, there would have been no deliberate thinking. Slavery would be necessary now for the world's progress, had not machines taken the place of slaves.

SCIENTISTS of the Smithsonian Institution announce discovery by Dr. Hrdlicka in the Aleutian Islands, off the coast of Alaska, of a skull that once held the biggest brain on record, excepting that of the Russian novelist Turgenieff, who had a brain cavity of 2,000 cubic centimeters. The biggest American brain belonged to Daniel Webster, 2,000 cubic centimeters.

But brain size and weight are not everything. Beethoven with a 1,750 cubic centimeters skull, will outlive in importance Webster, the French naturalist Cuvier and other "big brains."

ADAPTATION to usefulness is the important thing. It is said that the eye of the eagle is twice as heavy as the eagle's brain. That is well for the eagle; his important thing is good eyesight. Just enough brain to direct the perfect eye is sufficient.

THE REV. DR. Relland, able brilliant clergyman, retires from St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, New York City, with a sermon on "The Flexibility of Youth and the Constraint of Age," and the reverend gentleman is only 62 years old. At that age the important work of an intellectual man should be at its best.

Goethe was finishing the second part of "Faust" when past 72; a French author created a new style for France at 86, when he wrote his Life of Saint Louis—his first book by the way; Michelangelo and Titian were doing magnificent work at 80 and at 90, and Tennyson was nearing 80 when he wrote "Crossing the Bar," one of the finest things he ever wrote.

WINE BOTTLED in Germany hereafter will have instead of a cork, a plug of German wood.

To help make Germany independent of the outside world, the use of cork that does not grow in Germany is forbidden. This will save 10,000,000 marks a year, spent abroad for cork.

German wood, according to authorities, is cheaper, better, resists breakage, acid, alkali and eliminates "cork taste."

One question is, Will the wooden "cork" swell up at the lower end sufficiently to overcome the pressure of gas in a champagne bottle.

THE "MAN with the hoe" and the original American farmer following the plow on foot would be interested to know that farmers may now have pneumatic rubber-tired farm tractors, equipped with radio.

This writer, who farms in various parts of the United States, for profit, without getting any, can testify that the huge pneumatic tires for tractors wear well, and in the language of his associate, Thomas Maculey, formerly of the Genesee Valley, "ride like a baby carriage."

During the campaign the tractor radio will enable the farmer to learn, as he travels up and down the field, what else science and imagination have to offer him. The pneumatic tired tractor is invaluable for hauling heavy loads on concrete highways.

October 12 Dead Line On Returning Of Registrations

Monday, October 12, has been set as the "dead line" for returning registration stubs and registration money for the 74th convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, which is to be held at the Cathedral, New Castle, October 14-15-16. During the day on Monday the stubs can be left at rooms 208-9 second floor Lawrence Savings and Trust building. After seven-thirty p. m. arrangements will be made for some one to be in the lobby of the Cathedral to receive the stubs and money.

The various district presidents have received word to collect up the stubs and money in their respective districts after the Sunday school period October 11. District presidents are also urged to see that the apportioned amount from the various churches of their district be sent in to J. C. Miner, convention treasurer, Lawrence Savings and Trust company.

COMMITTEES NAMED AT N. H. B. SESSION

Mrs. L. C. Houston, East North street, proved herself a most charming hostess Tuesday evening, when members of the N. H. B. Kensington gathered in her home for their regular meeting.

Along with 14 members, two special guests were present and enjoyed the hospitality of the Houston home. The guests were: Mrs. M. M. Wheeler and daughter, Marie of New York City.

During the business session the new president, Mrs. Stanley Reese, appointed the following committees: plan for fall and winter activities; Halloween committee, Mrs. Clyde Griffiths, Mrs. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. E. McKibben, Mrs. H. T. Cooper, and Mrs. J. D. Reebie; Christmas, Mrs. C. L. Martin, Mrs. Louis Garrett, Mrs. Bert McKibben, Mrs. Harry Remley, and Mrs. Stanley Reese; banquet, Mrs. Elmer Brown, Mrs. N. Joseph, Mrs. T. C. Post, Mrs. L. C. Houston, Mrs. F. G. Beer, and Mrs. C. H. Heaton.

President Reese also appointed a picnic committee naming the following members: Mrs. C. C. Dixon, Mrs. Carrie Davis, Mrs. Harvey Martin, Mrs. R. E. Johnston, Mrs. J. B. Bowman and Mrs. H. T. Cooper. These present drew names of other members of the club for gifts to be given at the Christmas party.

Mrs. Sarah Hickok was admitted to the club as a new member. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her two out-of-town guests. The next regular meeting will be in two weeks, in the home of Mrs. Elmer Brown, Highland avenue.

1932 Club Meets

Tuesday afternoon, members of the 1932 club gathered in the home of Mrs. Thelma Hartman, Croton avenue, for their regular meeting. During the afternoon, the guests joined in an entertaining game of 500, with prizes captured by Mrs. C. M. Pugh and Mrs. C. C. Stump.

Three special guests included: Mrs. Hattie Nowling, Mrs. Anna March, and Mrs. D. W. Byers. The next regular meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Knox, Whippoorwill street.

MISS SUE BARNHART HONORED BY PARTY

Mrs. Perry D. Rice, Richelieu avenue, entertained a number of friends in her home Tuesday evening, in honor of her house guest, Miss Sue Barnhart of Meadville.

Two tables of bridge were in play with prizes awarded to Mrs. Charles Phillips Walther and Miss Eva King. Special guest prize was awarded to Miss Barnhart.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Thomas Connelly, Franklin, Miss Eva King, Mercer, and Miss Pauline McElhatten, Shippensburg. The latter along with Mrs. Richard Moffett, assisted the hostess in serving a most tempting luncheon. The guests were seated about tables attractively decorated in Halloween colors.

ROSEMARY MARTELLA HONORED BY PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martella, 1025 Maryland avenue was a scene of a lovely party Monday evening, October 5, when a large group of children gathered to surprise Rosemary Martella, who was celebrating her fourth birthday anniversary on that day.

During the afternoon a number of very entertaining games were enjoyed by the little folk and prizes were awarded to Virginia Ross, Dorothy Swanson, Mildred Stinard, and Sonny Felton.

At a late hour, 31 guests gathered about a gaily decorated table and were served delicious refreshments by the hostess, assisted by Miss Beatrice Swanson, Mrs. Matthew Edell, and Mrs. Earl Ross.

As a fitting climax for the affair, Rosemary was presented with a number of very beautiful and useful gifts.

KENSINGTON GUESTS AT MRS. M. J. YOUNG'S

Mrs. M. J. Young was a pleasing hostess Tuesday evening, to associates in the 1919 Kensington, at her home on Hillcrest avenue. Bingo provided entertainment, the favors falling to Mrs. David Valensi and Mrs. Julia McClelland. For lunch, the group was invited into the dining room where at an attractive table, covers were laid for ten. Dainty snappierons in beautiful colors were used for the centerpiece, together with tall tapers in crystal holders. The hostess was assisted by her daughter Audrey.

In a fortnight, the next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. E. G. Hoover, 509 Winter avenue.

RAFFLES ENTERTAIN AT FAMILY DINNER

To fittingly celebrate the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Olliver of Fairmont, W. Va., which occurred on Sunday, October 4, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Raffel, entertained at a family dinner at their home in the Leslie hotel.

At a charmingly arranged banquet table centered with colorful cut flowers and lighted tapers, the group of 33 guests enjoyed an excellent turkey dinner at 5 in the evening.

The group was composed of a number of out of town people who had assembled at this central location for the family gathering early in the day. Guests were present from Washington, D. C., Beaver Falls, Warren, Butler, Aliquippa and Fairmont.

Included among them were the three daughters and three sons with their families. These are: Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Myers and daughter Joan of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Pink of Fairmont, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Raffel and two sons Forrest and Leroy of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Olliver and son Stephen of Aliquippa, A. E. Olliver of Aliquippa and Fred B. Olliver of Fairmont, W. Va. Others present were sisters and brothers of the honored couple.

So happy was the occasion that it was decided to make similar affairs of an annual nature. It was late in the day when the guests departed, having keenly enjoyed the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Raffel, always genial hosts.

Meeting Of G. Club

Members of the G. club met in regular session at the home of Mary Mazurkiewicz on Reynolds street, on the afternoon of October 4. All members were present and a lively discussion of coming fall events took place. Plans were made for another semi-annual "Hobo Roundup," the date for which will be decided upon at the next meeting.

A scrap book covering all club activities was also planned, snap shots, clippings and souvenirs having been gathered for the past three years by the members being placed into one huge leather bound book to be kept by each succeeding president as club property.

After the business session, a plate lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. The rest of the time was spent with songs and chat.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Irene Gorski of Charter street, October 7. Weather permitting, a hike to West Pittsburg will follow a short business session. The members will be guests of Miss Gorski at a wiener roast and campfire.

Jolly Jewish Girls

The Jolly Jewish girls had a meeting on October 4 at the home of Sylvia Rogovin.

A Halloween party is planned by the group for next Saturday night, October 10, at the home of Mollie Ginsberg.

A short but delightful program was arranged by the hostess. A delicious repast was later served with the help of her mother, Mrs. S. Rogovin.

The next meeting will be at Sally Saul's house, 101½ West Long avenue.

Junior C. D. of A.

Monthly meeting of Junior C. D. of A. will be held at the K. of C. Home Wednesday evening, October 7, at 7:30 o'clock.

LOYAL BAND CLASS AT NOLTE RESIDENCE

Loyal Band class of the Third U. P. church held its regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. George Nolte, Hazen street, Tuesday evening.

During the business session, which was in charge of the president, Mrs. Charles Harris, plans for winter activities were made. Games of various types and chat while the hours away most pleasantly.

At a suitable time a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses who were: Mrs. Griff Lewis, Mrs. Audrey Henderson, Mrs. Joseph Wadman, Mrs. Edward Millison, Mrs. Emma Eakin and Mrs. George Nolte.

The class will hold a Halloween party in the home of Mrs. Albert Piffant, Hazen street, October 29.

NEW IDEA CLUB BEGINS MEETINGS

For its first meeting of the fall, the New Idea club gathered on Tuesday evening in the home of Mary Elizabeth Gibson on Pine street.

Chat and bingo served to while away delightfully informal hours and prizes for the games went to Helen Clark and Mrs. George Matlocks. Appetizing refreshments were enjoyed in the dining room where the guests were seated about a beautifully decorated table. The hostesses' mother aided.

The first Monday in November, the group will meet again, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Burkholder, Court street.

Mothers Class

Associated in entertaining the Mothers class of Primitive Methodist church Tuesday evening, were Mrs. Thomas Borovolis, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. George Kiefer, in the home of the first named on Raymond street.

There were 28 present and after the regular business was transacted under the direction of the president, Mrs. E. E. Hoyland, a social time was enjoyed, and refreshments served. Halloween decorations were used in appointments and the menu was suggestive of the season.

On Tuesday, November 3, the next meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. John Thompson, Park avenue.

D. D. 500 Club.

Members of the D. D. 500 club had their annual meeting for election of officers in a downtown tea room last evening, when Mrs. Jesse Kennedy was elected president and Mrs. Milton Woods treasurer.

The balance of the evening was spent in playing bingo, with Mrs. Sarah McLefferty and Mrs. Edward Winters winning honors.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Orville Potter of Hillcrest avenue, with Mrs. Carl Staebler as joint hostess.

Le Bon Temps Club

Associates in the Le Bon Temps club enjoyed an innovation from their regular assemblies Tuesday evening, when they were feted downtown by Mrs. Frank Pyle, of Meyer avenue.

Bridge occupied attention during the evening and nicely appointed refreshments were served. Prizes were awarded to Martha Mae Shaffer and Julie Frasso. The next meeting will be with Marilyn Blank, Walnut street, October 20.

Colonial Club

Mrs. Andrew Sarbo, Euclid avenue, will entertain Colonial club members in her home on Thursday evening.

Water Sometimes Cause Of Fire

(International News Service)
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 7.—Water, chief weapon of the fire fighter, often is the chief cause of fires, particularly on farms. Dr. David J. Price, fire and explosion expert of the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, told Pennsylvania firemen in convention here Tuesday.

"Fire caused by water is better known under a more technical name—spontaneous ignition," Dr. Price said. "Bacteriological and chemical action influenced by water is likely to cause the ignition of hay, cattle feeds, fertilizers and other farm products when stored in barns, farm buildings, or any kind of storage place."

He cited records of an 18th-century burning to the ground; destruction of a carload of mixed feed in transit; explosions and fires in fertilizer plants, all due to action of water on chemical accumulations, resulting in spontaneous ignition.

Not Always Safe

"Furthermore," he said, "water isn't always a safe thing to use in fighting certain types of fires. It is a possible indirect cause of terrific explosions. This might happen when a full stream of water at high pressure knocks loose accumulations of dust or stirs up piles of finely ground combustible materials, which is likely in fighting fires in industrial plants."

"The flames ignite the dust. When dust is encountered in fire fight, be cautious in the use of water."

He advised use of vapor spray nozzles on hoses in such instances.

TELLS LIONS OF RED CROSS WORK IN FLOOD PERIOD

Davidson, Area Officer, Lauds City's Response; Mac-Nab Heard

How the American Red Cross, with the help of scores of communities, sped aid to stricken Pennsylvania areas during the flood emergency of last March was dramatically related before the Lions Club yesterday by Walter Davidson, assistant manager of the eastern area of the Red Cross and one of the speakers at yesterday's Red Cross regional conference here.

The club had planned a special program of its own but gladly postponed it to hear the Red Cross leader describe how the relief and rehabilitation forces operated in the local region during those critical spring days.

Mr. Davidson, who was introduced by Orville Potter, the Red Cross chapter secretary here, praised New Castle and the community for its generous response to aid calls.

"Your community," declared Davidson, "over-subscribed your chapter quota by four times. That shows the spirit of cooperation you furnished."

The visiting speaker told of the Red Cross organization nationally and its nation-wide workings and then asserted:

"The Red Cross is an organization of the people."

Before Mr. Davidson spoke the Lions enjoyed a song period led by Percy McNab, former New Castle resident, who now lives in Hollywood, Cal. McNab provided the Lions with a snappy song period, one which the Lions won't soon forget.

and homecoming ball with dancing in both gymnasiums are features of the day.

The program begins at 2 p. m. when Coach Thompson's green and white gridgers meet their ancient Indiana rivals in the first home game of the season. A loud speaker from the new press box in the stadium will give the play by play account of the game.

At the half, the dedication of the new concrete stadium will take place with the principal talk being made by Dr. John H. Adams of Pittsburgh, principal of the Perry high school there and a trustee of the college. Representatives of recent classes which donated funds to the building of the stadium will also bring short messages.

The stadium, which has just been completed, is located on the south side of the natural amphitheatre which forms the new athletic field on the Kiefer road below the gymnasiums. The seating capacity is about 2,500. In the center above the upper tier of seats the press box is located and under the stadium is a large space which will be used by the college rifle club as a target range.

The oxroast will begin at 5:30 and the stadium will be lighted with a huge bonfire and gasoline torches. During the meal there will be a program of music, stunts, skits and other entertainment staged by the college students.

Motion pictures will be shown in the chapel at 7:30 and the homecoming ball will begin at 8:30, with dancing to two orchestras in both gymnasiums. Invitations have gone out to all alumni groups in the area and a record crowd is expected in Slippery Rock for the event.

The program begins at 2 p. m. when Coach Thompson's green and white gridgers meet their ancient Indiana rivals in the first home game of the season. A loud speaker from the new press box in the stadium will give the play by play account of the game.

Crime War Hits Police Officers

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—This city's war on crime today was extended to the police department itself because some members of the force purportedly have been filching apples and bananas from fruit stands on their beats.

Complainants have won the support of Mayor S. Davis Wilson and the superintendent of police. In their first effort to stop such practices, the officials had an order posted in all stations houses threatening dismissal of patrolmen who appropriate fruit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—

"White Horse Inn" the new Tyrolean super-super, spectacle, brought to New York after taking $12,000,000 from hundreds of thousands of European audiences in the last six years, looks like a long-term at the Center Theatre.

It is over-acting in its grandeur; it lulls and shines and from time to time knocks your eyes out. If it is a bit dull now and then that's in the tradition of the super-super-spectacle. The duller moments of this Austrian extravaganza are ten times as bright as the brightest moments in that other super-super-spectacle, "The Great Waltz."

Indeed I think the average customer would feel subtly disappointed if "White Horse Inn" didn't soothe him to the point of drowsiness at various points in the unwinding of its lavish pageantry. A melodrama produced on a shoestring might keep his hair on end for three acts. But a show that cost upwards of $200,000, and is rumored to have been angled not only by Rowland Stebbins, the canny Wall Streeter, but by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., himself—that's something else again. If it rushed through to the final curtain without allowing the customer to catch his breath he might not credit the $200,000 outlay—which is a lot of money to gaze at for $3.85 top.

As it is, the proceedings slow down often enough for the patrons to observe the wonders offered them. The river steamboats which actually steam across the stage, the ponies that moo and apparently fly milk; the mountains which were obviously shipped over direct from the Tyrol; the rainstorm of actual water; the horse and cart, and the motor bus. And the endless costumes, of a dazzling variety and sumptuousness to make the Rockettes feel a wee bit dowdy.

And then, as this average customer strolls out into Sixth Avenue for a smoke between the acts (there are three acts, an excellent idea for all musicals, which as a rule keep the patrons in their seats too long with the traditional two stanzas)—while the customer stretches his legs he can gaze at Doris Duke's custom built motor at the curb with Hawaiian license plates, as I did the night I attended. Or he can brush shoulders with young Alfred Vanderbilt in the lobby crush or watch George K. Arthur, once a movie headliner, pacing up and down in the foyer, with a tense abstracted air.

"White Horse Inn" soothes and pleases; it often astonishes, but it does not keep anyone in such a jitter of excitement that he cannot enjoy the other spectacle around him or the excellent deep seats of the Center Theatre—one of the few temples of drama in the world where any thought is given to the comfort of patrons who may be undieted and unredeemed.

It is, in addition, a show to which you can take the children and in these times they are few enough. (The shows, not the children.) You can bring Aunt Agatha and Uncle Abercrombie and the lady uplift worker from your home town. William Gaxton, in the role of a singing waiter, is slightly miscast, but he handles the part with his usual fetching air. Kitty Carlisle, who is not my idea of a Tyrolean charmer, supplies the heart interest expertly and winsomely.

But "White Horse Inn" presents a handful of players who, while not unknown, clearly are headed for bigger and better things fast. I refer to Mr. Buster West, an absolutely first-class comic dancer; Melissa Mason, another of the same, and the reliable Billy House of the gargantuan girth.

Indeed, I can find nothing wrong with "White Horse Inn" as pleasant, eye-filling entertainment. The direction might have had a lighter and less heavily Teutonic touch, but then, in that case, it might not have been the "White Horse Inn" that so ratcheted the Continent.

It is a show visitors from out-of-town will hear and perhaps want to see and that is why I give it a one-time-over here.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES
YESTERDAY a New Hampshire mother told of her experiences. You and I so enjoyed the account of her strings and good motherhood that we must have her go on.

"One evening when I had gone to teach my Red Cross first aid course my girls took down the pictures, big and little, in the living room, intending to change them around to suit themselves, before they had sent them to bed. "I know that if I did nothing but my housework and planning ahead for a round of playmates, my little family would PERHAPS be better off. But—I am teaching Sunday school, and I adore that work. I put considerable time into planning interesting lessons for my class (seven and eight-year-olds). I have not the 'gift of gab,' so I always have to know about three times as much as the lesson really calls for to make it interesting for me and the pupils. I make carbon copies of things for the children to color. This term I take one of the Ten Commandments each Sunday. Besides, I copy pictures for them to color. We've had Moses and the Ten Commandments, the Golden Calf, the Ark of the Covenant, Elijah and the Ravens, and so forth. These papers they put in the little book they are making with the pamphlets that come each week.

"I make our own attendance charts, too. Last term it was a hollylock garden. This term it is a desert scene. First each child present could paste on a tree trunk, then the tree tops, then an Arab tent, then a camel, then a sheep, and now we have arrived at the people in their striped robes.

"There! I told you all this to show you that I have a few capabilities, but my own little household gets into a turmoil because I let my enthusiasms get in the way of duty. I know I haven't schooled myself to drudgery housework. I do love to cook and sew, but I detest cleaning up the inevitable mess that living makes. The washing, ironing, sweeping, dusting. No matter how many times you do those things, you have to do them all over again, and again and again.

"I envy women who love the daily grind of housework. I'd like to be able to teach my children to be orderly—but how?—I can't teach. I have some success in writing out a list of duties, and pinning it on the wall. . . . Last year I made one New Year's resolution—to get rid of my inferiority complex. I succeeded. I am humble, but not apologetic now. The year I made one—to strive for order. It is hard to push aside creative enthusiasm till evening, when I'm tired, anyway."

On Court House Hill

It's been a long, hard pull, but a man who was sentenced to pay the costs in a liquor case, five years ago, came into the prothonotary's office yesterday and paid up.

The Home Realty Company, agent, has filed an action in ejectment against Mae Braby to secure possession of a property located at 1018 Croton avenue. It is claimed that the rent for the property is in arrears.

Robert J. Totten, use William B. Powell, trustee, has filed a petition for a scire facias against Bessie Levine. It is based on a mortgage originally for $15,000, which now amounts, with costs, to $17,633.66.

The Holland Furnace Company has issued a writ in replevin against James A. and Vesta R. Walker, New Castle, R. D. 2, to secure possession of a furnace, the original cost of which was $342.12 and on which it is claimed there is now due, $148.40.

Will of the late Sarah E. Miller has been admitted to probate in the register and recorder's office. Decedent leaves her property to her husband, A. C. Miller, as long as he remains, single, otherwise it is to be divided equally among decedent's six children. The will also provides for the distribution of personal property after the farm is sold. A son Lester, and daughter, Elizabeth, are made executors.

Although the county was free from contagious diseases about ten days ago, County Health Officer J. Frank Stevens says that there has since developed eight or nine cases of scarlet fever. These are in Wayne, Union and Neshaunock townships. Mr. Stevens has quarantined the homes, and is doing everything possible to prevent the spread of the disease.

Attorney W. W. Stevenson says that he has noticed that when persons, especially women, start across the street with the traffic light in their favor, and it changes about the time they get to the center of the street, motorists often blow their horns. This, he says, is liable to confuse the pedestrian who does not know whether to go ahead or go back. There is a momentary hesitation which may result in an accident.

Local attorneys are interested in a decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania sitting at Pittsburgh, handed down this week, in which the mortgage deficiency judgment act of 1934 is declared unconstitutional. There have been a number of cases involving this law in the Lawrence county courts, since the act was passed.

The law provided that when a property is sold at sheriff sale, and does not bring the amount of the mortgage, a judgment can be obtained against the man who gave the mortgage. However the amount of this judgment must be established by witnesses on both sides.

In the opinion just rendered the court holds that the act is at variance with both the state and federal constitutions. It was passed as an emergency measure during the depression.

TO START PACIFIC PASSENGER PLANE SERVICE

Six Passengers On First Trip

Five Of Them Are Newspaper Reporters—Seven In Plane Crew

CHINA CLIPPER TO LEAVE TODAY

By W. W. CHAPLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—The first trans-oceanic airplane passenger service in history opens today with the start of a press preview flight across the Pacific.

The China Clipper was scheduled to take off at 3 p. m. (6 p. m. EST.) with a crew of seven and a passenger list of six comprised of five eastern reporters and an official of Pan American Airways, operators of the new system.

On our return from Manila, which from now on is only four and a half days travel from California, we hope to have with us young Dorothy Kilgallen of the New York Journal and International News Service who is racing around the world against time and two men rivals.

Today Dorothy was reported well behind H. R. Ekins of the World Telegram and Scripps-Howard newspapers, and neck and neck with Leo Kieran of the New York Times and North American Newspaper Alliance. But Dorothy is the kind of competitor who can be depended on in the home stretch and I'm still sure I'll meet her in Manila.

Yesterday we watched the giant China Clipper put through her final test paces, soaring above the Golden Gate in humming majesty and we feel enormous confidence in her strength and power.

When we first learned that the occupants of the plane on this first passenger flight across the Pacific, more than 8,000 miles of ocean, were to number 13 the more superstitious of our company began to wonder what our bad luck would be.

BESSEMER

DINNER PARTY AND SHOWER

On Wednesday evening the office girls of the Bessemer Limestone and Cement company entertained at a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Colin Campbell, who has left the employ of the company, with whom she has been affiliated for the past nine years. The girl, motored to Youngstown and enjoyed a full course dinner. After dinner, the honoree was presented with a shower of handkerchiefs. The remainder of the evening was spent in an informal manner of social chat. Mr. Campbell's absence will be greatly missed by her co-workers. Those present from Bessemer were Misses Pauline Seip, Bernice Anderson, Viola Swanson, Mary Nord and Ma Linda Bass and the honored guest of Youngstown.

TELEGRAM RECEIVED

A telegram was received by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penwell on Sunday afternoon of the accidental death of the former's brother, R. A. Penwell at New Greenfield, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penwell and children, Thomas and James, left on Monday morning to attend the funeral.

Homecoming At New Wilmington

Westminster Annual Event
To Take Place On Saturday

SPECIAL PROGRAM BEING ARRANGED

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 7.—Homecoming Day at Westminster college has been set for Saturday, October 10, with the feature of the day the football game between Westminster and Bethany college alma mater of the Titans' new coach, George W. Roark.

Due to a compromise reached between the student council and the administration, no classes will be held. Stunt day, which was abandoned last year because of faculty reaction to making it a student holiday, will be combined with Homecoming features. In the past, classes have been held on Homecoming day if students received a holiday on Stunt day.

Activities begin with Freshman stunts on the athletic field at 9:30 in the morning. At 11 o'clock, a women's hockey team composed of all-stars will meet an alumni team, composed of former W. A. A. members. At noon, luncheon will be served in Browne Hall for visitors and guests, with special sorority and fraternity luncheon, elsewhere. Kappa Delta sorority will entertain at the Tavern; Sigma Kappa at Wyatt Lodge; Omicron Mu Gamma at the home of Mrs. A. B. Davis; and Beta Phi Alpha, Wyatt Lodge. Open house will be held for "old grads" at all fraternity houses.

The Westminster-Bethany game is called for 2 o'clock on the New Wilmington field. Loud-speaking amplifiers have been installed for the season to facilitate plays of the games. After a sound drubbing by Mt. Union's Purple team, Coach Roark is determined to put the polish this week on a team that is potentially powerful but which proved too inexperienced for the smooth-oiled Ohio machine Saturday.

At 4 o'clock a tea will be held in

BLACKHEADS

PREVENTED WITH OXYGEN CREAM

Thousands of women, who used to be miserable over a skin maddening complexion, coarse pores and blackheads, now possess a beautiful complexion with OXYGEN CREAM. This remarkable preparation—DIOXOGEN—keeps the skin looking fresh and full of life. Prevents many blemishes, blotches and blackheads. Refines coarse pores. Brings softness to rough skin. 50c jar of DIOXOGEN CREAM will convince you. Approved by Good Housekeeping. Not drying. At drug and department stores.

Browne Hall, for students, faculty, alumni and friends, with Dean Mary Turner acting as hostess. In the evening, from 8:30 until 11:30 the college will hold open-house in the form of a Homecoming Dance in the gymnasium to the music of Ken Morris and his orchestra of East Palestine, Ohio.

Preceding the Homecoming festivities, a pep meeting will be held at the gym, Friday night at 7 o'clock. Included in the pre-game activities Friday night will also be a pep parade, including fraternity floats and racket-machines.

Various fraternities and sororities will serve dinners to returning alumni Saturday evening, preceding the All-College Dance. Chi Omega will serve dinner at the Tavern; and Theta Upsilon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Mercer.

MANY ATTENDED BIG EXPOSITION

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—With a total attendance of more than three and one-half million visitors from every part of the United States and many foreign countries, the Great Lakes Exposition is nearing a close here with the unofficial prediction that the fair may be repeated again in 1937.

The closing week of the centennial, which stretches for one mile along Cleveland's downtown lakefront, will be featured by a dazzling Festival of Light ending Oct. 12, when one of the season's largest celebrations—Columbus Day—will be observed.

Field Officers To Go On Parade

Half Of Training In Wild Life Restoration Is Over For State Group

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—With half of their training in wild-life restoration almost over, the student body of the recently established field officers school will go "on parade" October 12 at the school's headquarters near Brockway, Jefferson county.

The commission indicated many state and federal conservation officials as well as commonwealth administration heads and sportsmen will attend the field day.

Gov. George H. Earle, it was announced, will be the principal speaker, and other speakers will include Major Nicholas Biddle, president of the game commission; Deputy Attorney General Grover Ladner, Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs, and Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the U. S. Biological Survey, Washington.

The school is the first of its kind to be established in the United States.

Stag For Wolves On Tuesday Night

Assembling in the Knights of St. Vitus club rooms, rear Maitland street, Wolves club members enjoyed a most delightful stag party Tuesday evening.

Cards and games were the popular pastimes of the evening. Refreshments were served during the course of the affair. Joe Capitola of New York, formerly of New Castle, was a special guest.

Tuesday evening, October 20 in the Elks club, North Mill street, Wolves club members will gather for their regular dinner meeting.

Pays High Tribute To State Convention Speaker

Concerning one of the leading speakers who will be in New Castle next week to take part in the State Sabbath School convention, the following comment of a local pastor, is of interest:

The citizens of New Castle are having a rare treat in store for them in the coming of the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo of New York to the State Sabbath School convention which meets here Oct. 15, 16, and 17th. For a number of years he was the outstanding minister of Wash., D. C. He was the popular pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, where he preached constantly to members of congress.

Recently, he was called to a wealthy and greatly endowed church in New York City. At his installation Mayor La Guardia made the address of welcome and leading city officials and churchmen were present. No man of our time was ever inducted into a pastorate with such dignity and metropolitan recognition.

He is a lecturer of national fame, sought out by the colleges and universities. He bids fair to take the place of the first rank as a spiritual leader in our religious world. He is a unique man, deservedly popular, young and virile, just the kind an inspirational speaker for a great convention. Don't miss him. His coming is a signal announcement, a satisfying assurance of the high quality of the whole program of the coming state convention. Let us prepare for it.

CHARLES B. WINGERD,
Member of Ministers' Committee.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Standard Bearers Plan Fall Work

Isabelle Shaw was hostess to members of the Standard Bearer Missionary society of the Mahoning M. E. church Tuesday evening as they gathered at her home on West Cherry street for their first fall meeting.

During the business meeting a program of work was planned for the year. Miss Maxine Gillespie was the leader of the evening, in the absence of Mrs. Q. E. Davy. At the conclusion of the business session, the remaining hours of the evening were spent on the study book, "The Land and Life of Africa", with Minnie Tindall leading in the discussion.

At a later hour a tempting lunch was served by the hostess, aided by co-hostess, Mrs. James Yeager. The small tables were attractively decorated in Halloween tones. Mrs. Leo Gallatin was a special guest.

The next meeting on Tuesday, November 3, will be held at the home of Minnie Tindall at Willow Grove.

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH
Mrs. J. E. Dixon, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Donnel, Mrs. F. A. Strutzinger, Mrs. Rheinhardt Vatter and John Dixon, Jr., will be in charge of the Card party to be held in the Lyceum Hall, corner of Clayton and Second streets, Thursday evening, October 8th. Bridge and five hundred will be played. Games will start promptly at 8:30.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT
The regular weekly prayer service of the Mahoning M. E. church will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Methodist Group Have Dinner Event

Members of the Look-Out class of the Mahoning M. E. church, spent a pleasant evening, Tuesday, as they gathered at the church for a tureen dinner. Twenty-four members were present and one guest, Miss Jane Kyle.

Hallowe'en suggestions were carried out in the decorations and made the setting a most attractive one. Colorful bowls of fall flowers centered the table, flanked on either side by tall glowing yellow tapers. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

A short business session followed with the president, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, presiding. In concluding the program of the evening, Mrs. J. A. Waddell gave a very interesting talk.

The committee in charge of arrangements included, Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Helen Clark and Pearl Dunham.

Mrs. Jess Gherken will entertain the group on November 3, at her home on the Mt. Jackson road.

Officers Elected At Club Meeting

Mrs. R. J. Metzler and Mrs. William Ellgass were hostesses to members of the B. W. R. club, Tuesday, as they gathered at the former's home on West Cherry street for a meeting.

Nineteen members were present. During the business meeting, the following officers were elected to serve for the new year:

President, Mrs. Clarence Woodruff.

Vice president, Mrs. Norman Grimm.

Secretary, Mrs. Harold Simpkins.

Treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Collingwood.

The remaining hours of the evening were spent at bingo with prizes going to Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Ellgass, Mrs. W. G. Campbell, Mrs. M. D. Lichtenstine, Mrs. Gladys Taylor Hackitt, Mrs. Collingwood, Mrs. George Fisher, Mrs. Grimm, Mrs. I. J. Taylor and Mrs. H. H. McCombs. Mrs. Ellgass was the fortunate winner of the club prize. Mrs. Clarence Shoup and Barbara Simpkins were special guests of the evening.

Later a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses at small tables. Fall flowers were attractively arranged throughout the house.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. H. McCombs and Mrs. E. M. Johnston on West Clayton street.

Berean Class Meets Tuesday Evening

Mrs. Ada Robinson entertained members of the Berean class of the Madison Avenue Christian church Tuesday evening, as they gathered at her home on the Mt. Jackson road for their regular monthly meeting.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Carl Houk and Mrs. Robinson. The president, Mrs. C. J. Bernhart, presided over a short business session, after which the remaining hours of the evening were spent playing dominoes and anagrams. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark and Thelma Bumbaugh were special guests.

At a later hour a tempting lunch was served by the hostess, aided by co-hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Houk and Mrs. E. C. Amon.

The next meeting on Tuesday, November 3, will be in the form of a tureen dinner to be held at the church. The committee appointed to make arrangements included Mrs. W. W. Waid, Mrs. J. B. Bumbaugh and Mrs. I. D. Wagner.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING
A congregational meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the Lyceum Hall, for the purpose of completing arrangements for the Jubilee Banquet which will be given on Sunday, October 18, from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m.

City Now Looks To United Chest Drive

Campaign Will Come During November; Map Details Shortly

With the city library drive now ended, the 1936 Community Chest campaign to be conducted during the middle of November became the center of civic interest today.

No definite campaign dates have as yet been chosen and the goal to be sought will not be announced until after a thorough review of the participating agencies' budgets.

President W. Keith McAfee of the Chest is expected to call the reorganized Chest board into session shortly to complete important preliminary arrangements.

The Community Chest drive this fall will be a united one with virtually every welfare agency in the community participating.

Medical Society Hears State
Has Never Adequately
Met Problem

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—Pennsylvania's institutions for the feeble-minded insane and epileptics are not only overcrowded but faced with huge waiting lists. Dr. Charles H. Henninger, of Pittsburgh, told the Pennsylvania medical society convention here today.

"Pennsylvania has never adequately met the problem," he charged. "It has never provided for more than one half the beds needed for a population as large as that of this state."

He recommended immediate construction of buildings for all mentally unfit who required institutional care; marriage laws to enable the state to control marriages of mentally unfit; selective sterilization and a commission to study control of syphilis.

Governor Earle Is Locked Out

Finds Court House Locked On Meeting Scheduled At Coudersport, Pa.

(International News Service)
COUDERSPORT, Pa., Oct. 7.—Gov. George H. Earle nursed the grievance of his first campaign "lockout" today—a denial of his use of the Potter county courthouse for a speech which finally was delivered in the open air.

Republican county commissioners—two of whom sit with one Democrat on the Potter county board—explained that Democrats had refused to take down a political banner stretched across the street in front of the courthouse, and that hence the courthouse was closed to the governor. Both parties, they claimed, were denied permission to hang the banners but the Democrats ignored the order.

Speaking from the street, beneath the banner in question, Governor Earle declared:

"It is certainly a reflection on the Americanism of the Republican leadership when the governor of the commonwealth is barred from the community meeting place because he is guilty of supporting and upholding the president of the United States."

Menzo Burt, Democratic commissioner who obtained permission for use of the courthouse three weeks ago, declared the banner was used merely as an excuse for refusing to permit the governor to speak within the building.

At St. Marys, the governor told a crowd of 8,000 there will be no sales tax in Pennsylvania as long as he was governor.

"We Democrats are certain of winning November 3 if we don't get 'swelled heads,'" he said.

Earle was late in arriving because of the Coudersport incident.

Pitt Cathedral Work Is Resumed

Eighty Men On Job Setting Limestone—More Floors To Be Completed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—Eighty new men—20 stone setters and 60 laborers and helpers—will be on the University of Pittsburgh payroll starting this week, when work started on the setting of 4,500 tons of Indiana limestone in the commons room of Pitt's 41-story Cathedral of Learning.

The stone will be brought in at the rate of a carload a day. About 140 railroad cars will be required to transport the entire load.

Production of the stone will necessitate the working of two limestone mills at full capacity during the fall and winter.

Next June will see the completion of the commons room and Heinz chapel, according to John Weber, business manager of the university. Funds amounting to $800,000 have been guaranteed in the last few months.

It is also expected that all floors up to and including the eighth will be furnished by next June, and floors 14, 15, 16 and 17 as well. Work on other parts of the Cathedral will be carried on when the lower portion of the 41-story interior is completed.

About $600,000 was raised by the university in the campaign of 1934. This sum was used mainly for the purchase and installation of pipe, wiring, switchboards and plumbing. The commons room will cost about $300,000 when finished. Rooms around the first three floors will cost an additional $300,000, which estimate includes the cost of the nationality seminar rooms, for which $170,000 has already been collected, mostly in small subscriptions.

Commenting on the Cathedral, Chancellor John G. Bowman says: "At Pitt we are trying to give an education that is the equal of what could be provided by the wealthiest parent for his children. We are striving to make the surroundings compatible with that endeavor."

Corporal Brush Back At Mercer

State Police Officer Will Act As County Detective For Brief Period

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Oct. 7.—Among the first state police to work Mercer county crimes was the present chief of the state police detail in the county, Corporal William Brush. Brush has just been assigned to the county replacing Corporal Marcus White.

It is stated by District Attorney Edwin C. Moon today that Brush will have charge of investigation work for his office. His many years of experience and wide acquaintance in the county will be taken advantage of by the official it was intimated.

"Judge Rowley and I have decided not to appoint a county detective to succeed S. R. Leyschock for some time," stated Moon today. "There is plenty of work for a detective but we intend to utilize the services of Corporal Brush and his men until we get the right man," he stated.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK.
Oct. 7.—After three hours of something that started as a ball game and degenerated into another abattoir, the New York Yankees won the championship of the baseball world Tuesday afternoon by beating the New York Giants in the sixth and, happily, the concluding game of the 1936 world series. The score piled up to 13 to 5 while 40,000 sat grimly through a gory finish that saw the Yankees score seven times in the ninth, repeating their 7-run rally of the second game.

As a result, the Yanks took the series at four victories to two, with Tuesday's game topping off a fantastic week. The Yanks took this one simply because they hit Fitzsimmons, Castleman, Coffman and Gumbert harder and often than the Giants were able to hit Gomez and Murphy.

Two For Gomez.
It was Gomez's second victory of the series, although he didn't deserve it, and Fitzsimmons' second defeat. The latter was brought back too soon after his dazzling four-hit performance of Saturday and was blasted out of the game in three and a half innings. Selkirk and Powell started it with a resounding triple for the former and a home run for the latter in the second inning. The Yanks scored again in the third on hits by Rolfe and DiMaggio and then drove Fitz out with successive singles in the fourth by Powell, Lazzeri and Gomez, followed not long afterward by Rolfe's hit to center. Castleman came on and pitched well until he yielded a run in the eighth. Then came the awful ninth with Coffman and Gumbert permitting the Yanks to hold a clam bake.

Union Preps For Mars Hi

Union Townshippers Hope
To Break Into Victory
Column This Week

Union High school football team will play Mars High at the Union High field on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced today.

All week long Coach Davey Boyd has been giving the boys special attention on blocking and tackling, both very weak departments of play in the Ursuline game. Another matter that needs correcting is the center. The line, Union had four punts blocked in the Ursuline battle. This will be the first Class B W. P. I. A. L. engagement for the Union, and they will be on their toes for the contest. Coach Boyd is trying to speed up the backfield and improve their blocking.

Mars High has a big, but green team this year. Last year the Unioners took a 7 to 0 victory, and hope to repeat. Union will have to play better football Friday than they have shown so far this year to be on top late Friday afternoon.

YOU BET THERE WAS

A very methodical man, staying at a hotel, used to read 20 pages of his book every day, recording his progress by a marker.

A vag put the marker back 20 pages every night.
At the end of a week they asked the reader how he liked his book. He replied: "It's a very interesting book, but there's a certain amount of repetition in it."

New Castle Can Take Class AA Lead Saturday

Must Defeat Washington
High To Stay Ahead Of Charleroi High Team

A New Castle Hi victory Saturday at Washington will give the Bridenbaughmen the lead in the Class AA conference. At the present time New Castle and Charleroi are tied with three victories and no defeats.

Charleroi meets a non-leaguer East Pike Run.
But, the matter of defeating the Washingtons may be a bit bigger than the locals can chew. The "Little Presidents" are always tough on their home lot. New Castle has always had a hard time in winning in Washington.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is chiefly concerned this week in getting his cripples in shape for the game Saturday. DeCaprio, Cox and Covelli are ailing. Several others are nursing bruises, with Noema nursing several cuts suffered in the Beaver Falls game.

Weak On Passes
New Castle looked better breaking up forward passes last week, but still they need a little brushing up.

Coach Willie Cox of Washington has scouted New Castle enough this year to know that the boys are weak on breaking up passes.
Washington is undefeated so far this year holding victories over Cannonsburg, and Bradcock among others. Last week Washington took a 13 to 0 victory over Bradcock High. The backfield of the "Little Presidents" is somewhat of a veteran combination. Goodridge plays the fullback spot, with Ross and Weber at the halves. The quartering is done by Watson, another veteran.

The game this week looks as the toughest the red shirts have been called upon to face, and a New Castle victory as said before would be more than welcomed.

Routes For Fans To Washington, Pa.

Two Routes Suggested Today
By B. N. Hanlon, Secretary Of The Motor Club

As an aid to the motorists who expect to attend the football game in Washington, Pa., on Saturday afternoon, October 10, B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor Club today announced two routes that are available.

The best route, according to Mr. Hanlon is route 18 through from New Castle. This route goes into Rochester, then across the bridge to Monaca. Right in Monaca to the Broadhead Pike and up the pike to the top of the hill. At the top, route eighteen goes to the right and from there on through Florence and Burgettstown.

Caution is advised at Florence as route 22 crosses eighteen there and traffic is usually heavy. In addition state patrolmen are stationed there to enforce speed laws.
The route through Pittsburgh is about two miles shorter but takes more time. Go into Pittsburgh through the Liberty tubes and on up the hill through Dormont and Mt. Lebanon. This road leads directly into Washington.

SEVERAL NEW RECORDS SET

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—While inertia became rampant and the people literally were beside themselves on park benches downtown Sunday, the 1936 all-New York series for the 1936 championship of the world has ended, unhonored, unsung and on a note of broad farce, with the Yankees taking the title from the Giants in a grotesque finale yesterday by 13 to 5.

The end came in six games that featured a home with bases filled by Lazzeri, a total of 31 runs by the Yankees in two games and record crowds of 64,000 and 67,000 over the week-end. But, when the last syllable was uttered, nothing could save the thing from being basely insipid.

All-Time Highs
It produced an all-time high in runs scored and an all-time low in entertainment.

Not only were the principals surpassing bad as series entries; they didn't even attempt to deceive and woo the eye by a show of animosity, such as made the Tigers and the Cards and Cubs memorable, if not actually unique.

Rival ball pen pitchers sat on the same bench during the first game and prattled amiably; if the hitter's bat was slippery, the catcher companionably passed the resin bar and, throughout, there was a spirit and beautiful friendliness, with never an unkind word uttered to mar the halcyon scene.

Yanks May Repeat
Fortunately, in the words of a current tome, it can't happen here again—not, at least, for several years. The Yanks can and maybe will win again in 1937 but the Giants are probably the weakest club to enter the series in all of the 33 years of the inter-league event.

Critics used to point with light derision to the Phillies of 1915 and the two Brooklyn winners of the same era but they were superlative. At least, they didn't have a first baseman with one leg and a third baseman with none.

Too Much Power
As for the Yanks, they were power in abundance when the pitching was not good—which was often enough—but astonishingly docile when Hubbell and Fitzsimmons were right for the first and third games respectively. Further, there now remains a dogged suspicion that the Yankees are not quite bright.

When they lost on Monday, they deserved to do so, first, because Schumacher pitched well enough to beat them and, second, because Gehrig sacrificed what would have been the pay-off run with an exhibition of base running that would have shamed a sophomore. On third with none out, he could have scored standing up on Dickey's infield out. Instead, he played it wrong twice by trying to score after the play and was out, sitting down. Selkirk immediately followed with a home run.

The boys were around last night still talking of Terry's unpardonable throw behind the runner, in yesterday's ninth inning and others were recapping in awed tones about physical errors, which were many and often terrible. But against these, I tentatively give you Rippe's two gymnastic catches and Bartell's bare-hand play on Crossetti yesterday and, with all vigor, I give you the mental antics of the Yanks.

Wild Pitch
On one occasion, a wild pitch got by Dickey with men on and he stood pensively gazing after the ball while a run scored. It was explained afterward that Dickey was thinking of the American League where runners can advance only one base on a wild pitch that hits the stands. But at the time he happened to be playing in a world series and at the Polo Grounds.

On another occasion, he threw a runner out stealing with one out and started for the bench. He thought this side was retired—and as the catcher, he naturally was running the game for his club. Equally culpable was Selkirk in "slaying up" going into second base for an easy out because he thought the batter had fouled the ball. There wasn't any outstanding sense in Seed's attempted steal to end Monday's game and it was noteworthy that the bench only remembered to put him in as a pinch-runner for Malone as an after-thought.

However, it remained for everybody on the club from McCarthy down, to pull the monumental bloomer. It should have blown the game and perhaps the series.
Situation Corrected
Two were out, the score was 1 and 1 and second and third bases were occupied. In other words, first base was "open." Even down in Class C, they throw down in the third base in order to make a force play at every bag. But with the strong-hitting Mancuso at the plate and the weak-hitting Whitehead to follow, this decision fairly shrieked for attention. But the Yanks were happily on, pitching to Mancuso who hit a mile—but right at the left fielder.

After the first pitch, Gehrig left his position, approached the box and talked earnestly, apparently having discovered the oversight. But I wronged him. He only wanted to tell Hadley that his shirt was out.

Seats On Sale Thursday For Game Saturday

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High today announced that Washington high is sending several hundred tickets here for the game at Washington on Saturday.

The tickets will go on sale at the Sporting Goods Store on Thursday morning, it was announced. The reserved seat tickets are 75 cents. The general admission price is 50 cents. The student tickets sell for 35 cents.

It was also announced that the game would start at 2:30 o'clock.

If the New Deal doesn't make you prosperous, it is a failure. If it does, you don't want a new deal.

Misunderstanding About Tickets For Massillon Game

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High announced today that a misunderstanding had occurred in the matter of reserved seat tickets for the Massillon game here Friday night, October 16.

No reserved seat tickets will be held after Tuesday, October 13, it was announced. Last night the story said that no tickets would be sold after next Tuesday, but it should have read no tickets will be held.

It means in other words that persons having tickets laid away at the Sporting Goods store for the Massillon game must get them by Tuesday evening or forfeit their orders. The tickets will be placed back in the rack for sale Wednesday.

Lawn Hopes To Beat Maruskin

Ellwood City Welterweight
Desires To Win Monday Night

EVAN EVANS GOOD
BOXER AND HITTER

Alex Lawn, husky Ellwood City batter is training for his coming third round battle here Monday night against Frank Maruskin of Aliquippa at the Arena garden, Neshannock avenue. There is considerable rivalry between the followers of both boys and it is believed that the scrap between the welterweights will be a fast one.

Maruskin and Lawn have boxed once. Lawn having been the loser. However, the scrap was so close there are many who believe the Ellwood City boy is yet the master of Paddy Grimes protégé. Paddy is the chap who years ago brought Nick Polls here to fight Elmo the Mickey and other light-heavyweights.

Evans Evans of Lisbon who has been carded as an opponent for Ted Blask of Beaver Falls is a fast boxer who knows what it is all about, according to Cy Liewelyn, former local boy who is now piloting a large stable of amateur boxers at Chester, W. Va. Blask is a fair boxer and good puncher.

There will be several other battles on the card among them the Ray Gray-Keith Goodballet bout which may prove the feature of the show. Gray hopes to upset Goodballet with a right to the jaw and is training diligently every day at the Jefferson A. C.

Goodballet is not hard to hit but he is tough and one of the best punchers in the amateur middleweight ranks. Judging from Gray's knockdowns of Billy Bunton at East Liverpool the fans can expect to see the last bout end probably in a knockout—with either boy apt to turn the trick.

The Arena gardens in Neshannock avenue, has been fitted up for boxing and there will be approximately 1,000 seats awaiting the fans when the bell rings at 8:15 p. m. Monday night. The bouts are sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic union and the State Athletic commission.

The first news service was established by Charles Havas in Paris in 1840. Dispatches were flown to and from newspaper offices in Paris, Brussels and London by carrier pigeons.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Two knockouts featured the Bradock, Pa., A. C. amateur boxing show last night. Kid Harkins stopped Bob Slippy after two minutes and Eddie Bazar scored a technical knockout over Matt Brozovich in the first round. In a professional scrap at New York, Solly Krieger won a 10-round decision over John Anderson who weighed 172, which was nine pounds more than Solly weighed.

Verbal storm which flared around charges by Stanford U. graders of "coaching" and "incompetent officiating" of Referee Bob Morris in the Washington State college game last Saturday has simmered down. Coach C. E. Thornhill, whose Stanford team lost 14 to 13, decried the publicity attending the affair and has suggested the matter should be forgotten.

Altoona high authorities have ruled Altoona cannot play in any night football games. Harry Sturm, Curksburg, W. Va., won the 1936 Harrison county, W. Va., amateur golf title at Sunnyside club, Clarksburg, by beating Elm Sturm, 16, son of the professional.

Babe Ruth said today that he has not been approached by Brooklyn officials to lead the club.

NAP IS CRUSHED
When light or dark patches appear on your rug they are not due to difference in color in the surface, but to the unequal crushing of the nap. This effect can be lessened by smoothing out the pile in one direction with a vacuum cleaner, carpet sweeper, or soft corn broom. It is also helpful to turn the rug around from time to time.

CANTON, O., Oct. 7.—School officials today termed as "one of the most unfortunate incidents in Canton history" the death of one boy and the injury of nine others when a bolt of lightning struck the Lehman high school football squad on the practice field late yesterday.

Also injured were Coach James Robinson, 35, and Assistant Coach Wilbur Billings. The team's co-captain, Don Correll, 16, a junior, was killed.

Witnesses told how the first and second teams were scrimmaging when the rain started. "Just one more play," Coach Robinson sang out. The two teams lined up for the start of the play, when suddenly there was a blinding flash. The players were sent sprawling, some of them knocked unconscious.

Teachers Of County Attain Highest Rating

Have Largest Percentage Of College-Trained Instructors In Pennsylvania

Lawrence County has the highest percentage of college-trained teachers in the entire state of Pennsylvania, figures compiled by Dr. Henry Klonower, in charge of the teacher education division of the Department of Public Instruction announced.

The figures show that Lawrence county has 37.6 per cent of its teachers with a four-year college education, three times the average for the state as a whole, which is but 12.4 per cent.

Philadelphia county, near the seat of many advanced education institutions, is near the very bottom with only 6.9 per cent of its teachers college trained.

The figures reveal the fact that the school boards of Lawrence county are raising the standard of acceptance for teachers, and also the fact that many are preparing for this important task with a four-year college course.

Rehearsals Almost Every Night At 'Y'

Fine Cast Secured For Production Of "The Mikado"
At Cathedral

Two weeks from today "The Mikado," best known of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light operas will be presented at the Cathedral for the benefit of the New Castle Y. W. C. A.

During the past few weeks the directors of the production, W. W. Campbell and Prof. Albert Corday, of New Wilmington, have been securing the very best talent in New Castle, Lawrence county and surrounding places, and now have what they believe is a well-balanced cast that will be able to handle competently the bright score and libretto.

Rehearsals are being conducted almost every night at the Y. W. C. A. building and those who have had the pleasure of these "previews" are enthusiastic in their praise of what is happening.

It promises to be a great show and the "Y" association anticipates crowds in the auditorium both on the nights of October 21 and 22. A school children's matinee is also being planned.

Favor Move To End Labor Strife

Cap And Millinery Workers
Seek To End Labor
Union Controversy

LEWIS SAYS NO
SUCH MOVE NEAR

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Despite the opposition of John L. Lewis to peace negotiations with the American Federation of Labor, the cap and millinery department of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' international union was on record today as favoring steps to end the strife between the A. F. of L. and the Committee of Industrial Organization.

A resolution embodying recommendations to this effect was adopted at the national convention of the cap and millinery workers here. It marked the first disaffection within the ranks of the C. I. O. in its campaign against the Labor Federation.

Lewis To Continue Drive.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Deprecating reports new negotiations are underway to compromise his differences with the American Federation of Labor, John L. Lewis said today his Committee for Industrial Organization will continue its drive to organize workers in the steel, rubber, automobile and other mass production industries along industrial lines.

He made his statement on the eve of the meeting of the federation's executive council here to draw plans for the union's convention in Tampa, Fla., at which its suspension of the 10 unions comprising the C. I. O. will come up for a vote.

David Dubinsky, head of the international indies' garment workers, has indicated the breach between Lewis and William Green, federation president might be compromised. And added to this was Green's luncheon engagement with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park Monday which caused some factions to believe a reconciliation might be effected.

"No one from the A. F. of L. has approached us," Lewis said. "We have not gone to them. Our attitude remains the same."

"I offered Green a plan for settlement of this dispute but he would not or could not accept it. The C. I. O. offered the A. F. of L. $500,000 if the A. F. of L. would put up $1,000,000. With this fund we wanted to go ahead with the industrial organization of workers in certain industries. But they did not want to do this."
